The BlackBerry Bold 9000 comes with a case, but it adds a bit of bulk to the phone. BlackBerry (RIM) makes skin cases specifically for the Bold. The BlackBerry Bold Skin Case comes in a variety of colors (Black, Grey, White, Red, Blue) and it's priced competitively at just $9.95. Read on for our full review.

Design and Usability

The BlackBerry Bold Skin Case is not a heavy duty case, but will offer a decent level of protection for the Bold. Those who will consider this case are looking for easy access to the keyboard and basic protection against scratches from daily use. With the skin on, the only expose areas are your ports, the keyboard and of course the screen. The various buttons on the Bold are also covered, but you can feel the rubberized buttons that allow you to control the Bold. Overall, the BlackBerry Bold Skin Case allows you complete access to your BlackBerry. One caveat, if you have a BlackBerry Bold charging pod, it will not charge with the case on. This case is easily removed and you could simply flip the bottom off before docking. Not exactly an elegant scenario, but it does get the job done. Some cases affect your ability to type, but this was not the case. My typing was not affected at all and not once did I come in contact with the bottom part of the case.
